

TRENDS

Powerful and Playful Pants Top the Polls

COMFORTABLE YET VERSATILE PANTS ARE THE ALL THE RAGE THIS SPRING SEEN ON BOTH CATWALKS AND INFLUENCERS

BY : Carly Wolfe

November 7, 2020

From being seen on the runway to paparazzi pictures of Bella Hadid shows off ‘power pants’ that are coming in hot for this Spring.

Whether your on-zoom conference calls, online school lessons or looking for that perfect comfy casual date outfit, oversized power pants can fit the occasion .

Yes, pants have always been a look you can dress up but since the start of the quarantine, oversized baggy pants have been inching their way into the everyone’s closets. No, these are not sweatpants. Oversized dressed up power pants are the hot topic for that elegant, powerful, yet everyday, relaxed look we crave.

Stella McCartney showcased in the Spring 2021 Ready to Wear show, the staple piece of a pair of pants. The model is wearing a matching black set that can be worn to a business meeting or at home doing work.

The Louis Vuitton Spring 2021 Ready to Wear show had a countless number of looks with oversized trousers. The one below includes power pants with a patterned crop top and an off the shoulder bag.

Model Jan Baiboon at Stella McCartney
At Spring 2021 Ready to Wear

Model Alina Bolotina at the Louis Vuitton
Spring 2021 Ready to Wea

Seen here, Bella Hadid even took the versatile look for a night on the town in New York City versus Kaia Gerber taking the look in a more causal direction with sneakers.

Kaia Gerber in plaid flare loose pants

Bella Hadid out in for a night in NYC

Paired with a cropped sweatshirt, power pants offer that wide range of motion that is comfortable or can be dressed up for a meeting with a fitted tank and a blazer.

Who knew that a pair of pants can be so powerful?