

GOING for the BOLD at the 2020 EMMY AWARDS

GOLD IS THE NEW BLACK ACCORDING TO THESE CELEBRITIES...

BY: Carly Wolfe

Pictured : Tracee Ellis Ross in Alexandre Vauthier dress, Jimmy Choo shoes, and vintage Tiffany & Co. Jewelry

Gold was the color of choice for 72nd Annual Emmy Award nominees on September 2nd in the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

Although the show, hosted by Jimmy Kimmel, lacked the typical audience-pleasing red carpet, this entirely remote show did not lack for glamour and flash.

In a statement dress by, Tracee Ellis Ross donned a low cut, leggy gown with ruffles and flair paired with a matching mask while Robin Thede chose a decidedly more toned-down shade of gold in a uniquely feminine look.

In my grade book, Ross gets an A. Flashy and bright, her dress lifts the spirits of a pandemic-weary public and proves that whimsy can exist even in these hard times.

Pictured: Robin Thede in Christian Siriano dress, Jennifer Fisher rings, Stuart Weitzman shoes, and Misho earrings